Kenrokuen Kenrokumachi, Kanazawa City 076-234-3800 [Open] 7:00~18:00 (3/1~10/15) 8:00~17:00 (10/16~The end of February) [Days Closed, etc.] Open throughout the year	Kenrokuen is a typical Daimyo (feudal lord) garden established during the Edo period that passes on the characteristics of strolling-style landscape gardens incorporating ponds. Kenrokuen started out with the construction of Renchi-tei garden by the 5th lord Tsunanori Maeda, which was then developed into the current form by the 13th lord Nariyasu through the expansion of Kasumigaike pond in 1837. The name "Kenrokuen" means that the garden has six features: spaciousness, seclusion, artifice, antiquity, water-courses and panoramas. After the abolition of han system, Kenrokuen was opened to the general public as a park and was rated as a National Site of Special Scenic Beauty in 1985.	65 years or older.....Free Adults.....320 yen 6-17 years old...100 yen
